McEwan was selected for All-American center last year by several sporting writers and will undoubtedly be selected by some this year. Outside of Oliphant, McEwan was the greatest asset that the army team had this year.

The big roving center is a member of the second class and next year will be his last at the military academy. He has played on army teams for three years.

Shorthorns Are Sought.

KIAMATH FALLS, Ore., Dec. 8.—P. W. Snyder, one of the largest stockmen in the Swan Lake valley section east of this city, left for Kentucky, where he goes to select a car of purebred Shorthorn cattle and a registered Shorthorn bull for shipment to his Kiamath county ranch for breeding purposes.

"I don't know of any purebred Shorthorns in this section," said Mr. Snyder just before leaving, "but I am convinced they are a good breed to introduce here. They are excellent for beef as well as for dairy purposes, and I don't see why we should not have more purebred cattle in the country. It is an ideal stock country."

Mrs. Hendricks recalled the planting of the tree just after the high water of 1862. Eugene people were forced to remain in their homes for several days. GREAT WAR WILL SEE ENDING OF ALL WARS SAYS THE PRESIDENT

WILSON BELIEVES THAT PRESENT CONFLICT WILL IMPROVE THE WORLD.

There Will Be No Patched Up Peace, He Declares, But When Peace Comes Again a Guarantee Will Be Demanded That It Will Remain—U. S. Must Play Its Part.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 11.—President Wilson expressed the opinion that there would be no "patched-up" peace following the European war. In an address before the Columbus Chamber of Commerce he urged American business men to mobilize their resources so the United States might be prepared to play a more important part in the world's affairs and to bring about justice after the present war.

The president spent 18 hours in Columbus, during which he was active every minute. In addition to the Chamber of Commerce speech, he delivered an address before the commission on "Country and Church Life of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ of America," shook hands with more than 7000 persons at a reception in the rotunda of the state capitol, spoke briefly to a large crowd from the steps of the capitol, and took a long walk about the streets of Columbus.

Mexican Policy Defended.

In the Chamber of Commerce address the president defended his Mexican policy and said so long as he was president nobody should "butt in" to alter the Mexican government for them; urged businessmen to pay more attention to foreign commerce and to be more self-reliant; demanded the restoration of the American merchant marine, praised the new banking and currency law, and touched on the attitude of the United States toward the European war.

"When the present great conflict in Europe is over, the world is going to wear a different aspect," Mr. Wilson declared. "I don't believe there is going to be any patched-up peace. I believe that thoughtful men of every country and of every sort will insist that, when we get peace again, we shall have guarantees that it will remain."

ALEXANDERS

Gilbert was once an autocratic chief on a Pullman train. He condescended to tickle the palates of mill, bonaire travelers and his emoluments were large.

One day, arriving at his home in Jersey City on a slightly disarranged schedule he found Mrs. Gilbert enjoying the society of another man. Gilbert's pistol aim was good, and the other man died soon thereafter.

Gilbert was sent to the state prison for a long term, but for nearly two years now he has very tenderly and obligingly exerted his talents and his experience as cook for the other convicts who have formed the camp engaged in road construction. The fare allotted by the state prison board, if plain, is plentiful and varied, and Gilbert does things to it which no ordinary cook would ever dream of.

The men who like the outdoor life and the rest and comfort of the camp count the cuisine the most charming of all its attractions. Now it is likely that Gilbert will soon be leaving them, for his application for parole is to be taken up at the next session of the court of pardons.

Belgian Need Is Great.
NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—The following statement was issued in behalf of the Commission for Relief in Belgium:

"An erroneous impression to the effect that there is no further need for benevolent relief for Belgium seems to have gained circulation. On the contrary the need in Belgium as the severe winter is approaching is greater than ever."

"We are now concentrating, with the magnificent co-operation of our state committees throughout the country, all of our efforts on the collection of clothing, piece goods and shoes, so that the sufferings of the unfortunate victims of war in Belgium and Northern France may be mitigated."

Wife, I am certainly glad we've got our Winter Coal Supply in—it looks as though we're going to have a real cold winter; besides, think of the money I've saved by buying early in the season. There's Jones' across the street, they never buy their coal until the cold weather sets in—they not only pay more, but as a rule are freezing while waiting for it to be delivered.

Have you YOUR WINTER COAL SUPPLY in?

Why not order NOW, when deliveries are prompt?
